

Be sure-sure

Buildings vs. home contents

Understanding the difference between these cover types

Insurance can be confusing, we know... But not when you're with the king of insurance! Case in point? We've created this super handy summary to help you understand the difference between buildings insurance and home contents insurance. (We're nice like that.)

Buildings insurance

Covers the physical and permanent structures on your property, like your home and its outbuildings (garage, storeroom, etc.).

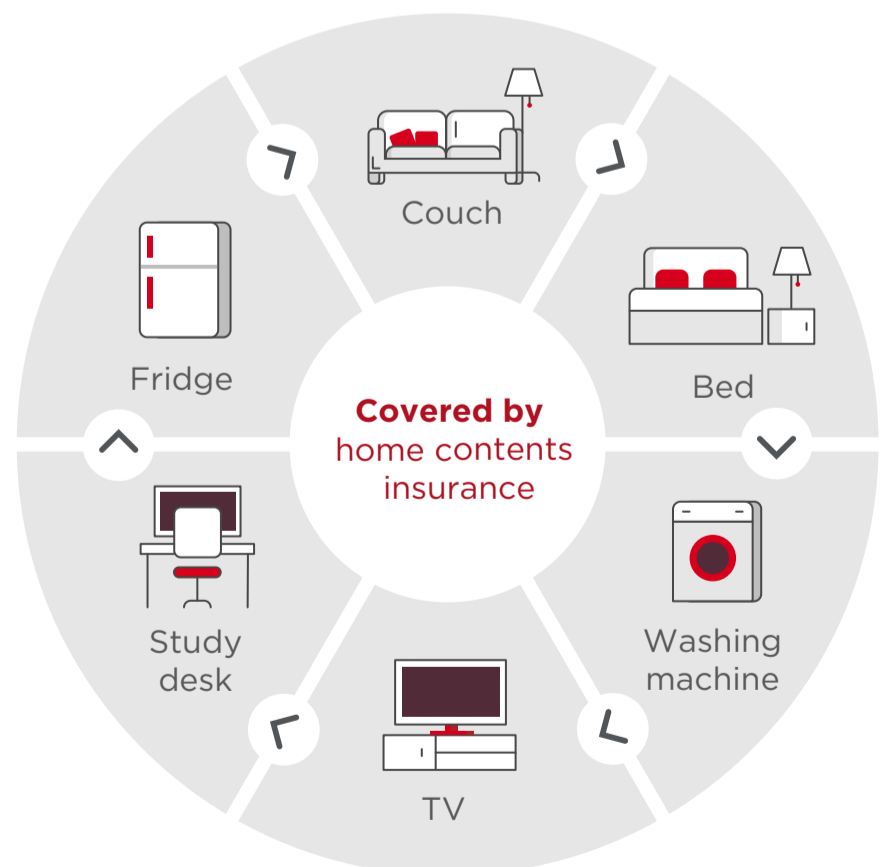

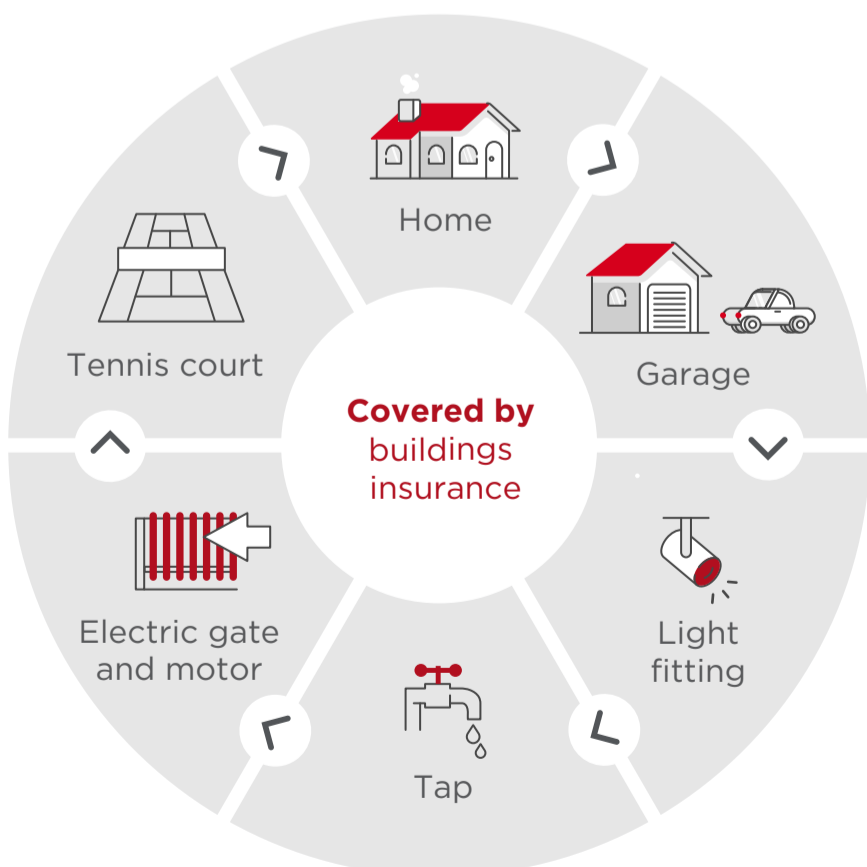

Home contents insurance

Covers everything that would fall out if you turned your home upside down.

Did you know

You don't have to take the building insurance offered to you by your bank when you buy a house. You could save a lot of money by getting a quote from us.

Want the bigger picture? Take a look below...

Questions?

We're just a WhatsApp or call away: 0860 50 50 50.
To manage your policy online, click here.

KingPrice[™]
INSURANCE

kingprice.co.za

Licensed insurer | FSP no. 43862 | T's & C's apply